

Where It All Ends

Where It All Ends

By : Atton Brown

Me thinking about death

Published on
Booksie

[booksie.com/Atton Brown](http://booksie.com/Atton Brown)

Copyright © Atton Brown, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

Where It All Ends

Thinking about where it all ends

To say goodbye to loveâs and friends

To lie in the earth and never awaken

To not breathe at all, even when shaken

Itâs a peculiar feat

The fate we meet

Because every soul

Will pay this toll

And in deathâs eyes, we are all equal

So close your eyes, one last time and being lifeâs sequel

Every mistake you made will be of no importance

Everybody floats here, they walked through the door, hence

Death being a present

Given to every king, queen and peasant

It will be given to you

Once youâve done all you can do

So why cry

When I die?

You should smile and elate

Be happy I passed, cuz youâll join me

Just waitâ!

Where It All Ends

Where It All Ends

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-02-01 10:34:10