Out To Hurt Me.

Your bright eyes your beautiful smile you're so hard to let go your constant lies your too galas style makes me really want to though your contagious laugh my better half sometimes I think I could not ask for anymore but anyday you can runaway and walk right out that door your morning kiss your gentle toned voice continues to make my heart melt I would keep it like this if it was my choice it is the most amazing feeling I have ever fealt I want to stop caring and not be so nice fuck you over fuck you over twice you're hurting me real bad if I never loved you so much I would take pleasure from anothers touch I could never no matter how I get mad return the same treatment and tell you a lie but in my heart I cant flee' convince you I love you all so sly how can you do that to me?
I want to so badly and think I should to make you feel this awful pain to hurt you proper to hurt you good until you never hurt me again watching you sleep my mind goes deep I cant keep my eyes closed I try to hide the hurting inside But still my feelings are exposed tattoo my name on your arm symbols I bring you anything but harm is the type you're turning out to be saying you wouldnt mess with my head but worse instead I am certain you're out to hurt me.

Out To Hurt Me.
